

Dental Care in Myrtle Beach

You will have no trouble locating a good dentist in Myrtle Beach, South Carolina, no matter what your needs may be. There is a dentist in Myrtle Beach just for you regardless of whether you need general, pediatric or cosmetic dental care.

Pediatric oral care is very important to the dentist community in Myrtle Beach. Practitioners support parents with instruction in home dental care and overall dental health information that will help to keep their childrens teeth and gums at their best. Good oral hygiene and nutritious foods are emphasized. Good lifelong dental health habits begin in childhood.

Even the best of dental care in early childhood may not prevent adult teeth from growing in crooked or with some other form of defect; that is where a good orthodontist comes in. Orthodontics, the practice of correcting dental defects through the use of braces or other appliances, is as crucial to good oral development as basic dentistry. You can find several good orthodontic dentists in Myrtle Beach.

Other dentists in Myrtle Beach perform restorative services. Your damaged teeth can be restored, sometimes in only one session, with a specially formulated ceramic material made to match the color of your teeth. Crowns are created in the office while you wait. Dental restoration also includes root canals, bridges, partials and dentures. These services will put the smile back on your face.

Now for cosmetic dentistry. Your smile, often the first part of your face to reflect your emotions, is the first thing that people see; let them notice you for the sparkle of your smile and not its defects. Your broken or chipped teeth will be restored to their original shape and color; tooth whitening procedures and tooth colored cavity fillings eliminate stains and unsightly metal spots. These procedures restore self confidence along with your teeth.

If you do not need a specialist, you can find several dentists in Myrtle Beach who will offer you and your family general dental services. Regular dental checkups give you access to xray screenings that detect cavities, bone loss and tumors, tooth cleaning and polishing, examination for oral cancer, gum treatments and TMJ (temporomandibular joint disorder) therapy. Your dentist will use the latest dental technology such as air abrasion (which eliminates the need for drilling), diagnodent (which aids in the detection of cavities at their earliest stages) and comfort techniques such as intravenous sedation, oral sedation and nitrous oxide, which are designed to reduce anxiety during treatment.
