

Portable Storage Units and Moving Containers

Portable storage is getting more and more popular for big moves. Whats happening? Because it really is the best of both worlds: an accessible self-storage unit that can also be used to move from place to place. And without ever requiring you to get behind the wheel of a giant unwieldy truck.

Moving with the use of portable storage units

It is very stressful to try to move and get everything packed when you need it packed. The movers have you on a tight schedule and it costs money if you are not ready. And while moving will always be stressful, using a portable storage unit can take some of the crazy "rush-rush-rush" out of your schedule.

See, the portable storage container is what your belongings are actually moved in. And after your portable storage container shows up, you can keep it around for a while, so theres no rush.

Portable storage units are weather safe so there are no fears about getting things wet or moldy. This makes it easy to get any nonessential items packed up and out of the way first-- and its a lot more convenient than having 100 boxes underfoot while you pack. When the real moving day comes, you already have the less necessary things packed way in the back and you can add the more day to day stuff in. The portable storage company will send a truck to pick up the unit and deliver it to your new doorstep. On the other end, they will come pick up the portable storage container after youve called them to say you are all finished unpacking.

Moving to a temporary location before your new home is ready? The company can store your container in a special portable storage warehouse until youre ready for delivery. Piece of cake.

Long term storage with portable storage containers.

No matter what type of move you are doing, this is often a great time to get rid of some belongings you dont need anymore. On the other hand, its no fun to think you need to sell something just because you dont have space for it in the moving truck. Consider a portable storage unit because Ive found they make much easier.

Portable storage units can be used for storing your things. After you pack the container, they will take it to a safe and climate controlled environment until you need it delivered. Do you need access to your portable storage unit while its stored? Call to have the unit re-delivered, or even visit it in the warehouse yourself.
